

Faith Coordinating Center at Wake Forest School of Divinity

Faith Transformative Grant Request for Proposals

Overview

Faith institutions in the Southern U.S. have long been a cornerstone in African American communities in the Southern United States not only for spiritual and religious guidance, but social change and movements to address racial equity, economic disparities, voting rights, and housing conditions. More recently, faith institutions have begun to address health promotion and disease prevention including HIV/AIDS. The purpose of this funding opportunity is to advance the ability for a diverse array of congregations, including Christian churches, synagogues, mosques, and temples, and faith-based organizations to develop programs and initiatives or conduct research in their local religious communities that promote positive faith and health outcomes, specifically in the area of HIV.

Wake Forest University School of Divinity is seeking to fund Faith Transformative Grant activities that focus on infrastructure development and coalition and network building between faith communities and non-traditional partners. Faith Transformative Grant grants will support the establishment of infrastructures to enhance health ministries, communications, trauma informed care, and other programs to respond to the HIV crisis in the South and promote healing and life-enhancing possibilities for those impacted by HIV/AIDS. We use the phrase, Faith Transformative Grant, intentionally to acknowledge the strengths and knowledge that organizations already possess while aiming to expand scope, reach and effectiveness together as partners. Our aim is to collaborate with Christian and interfaith partners to help end the HIV epidemic; create and sustain inclusive faith spaces (virtual and/or in-person) for people of color, LGBTQ persons, and people living with HIV; create opportunities for spiritual, physical, emotional, and financial wellness; and educate faith leaders and faith communities who will impact how communities respond to HIV/AIDS in the future.

Faith Transformative Grants will provide funding for organizations at $100,000 for 15 month programs to provide resources for faith-based organizations and/or nonprofit organizations to develop and scale faith-focused programs and initiatives or conduct research to enhance health ministries, communications, trauma informed care, and other programs that promote positive and transformative health outcomes throughout the Southern region of the United States, specifically in the area of HIV. Due to limited funds and a high volume of applicants, we reserve the right to fund organizations at or below $100,000.

Example of funded activities in this focus area might include (conducted on a statewide, regional, or national level:

- Expanding health ministries and theological research and practice to develop interventions that explicitly addresses the HIV care continuum, leveraging faith communities.
- Establishing or formalizing an existing faith-based program that has demonstrated and measurable impact with addressing the HIV Epidemic.
- Theological education or trainings for faith leaders and lay audiences in congregations to build their capacity to develop interventions to address the HIV epidemic.
- Focus groups, online surveys, or other formative research with PLHIV, people affected by HIV/AIDS, and/or those providing spiritual, social, or emotional support to people affected by HIV/AIDS, with a particular focus on faith-based approaches to engaging these groups.
- Develop an app or other online intervention to enhance faith leader education/training and sustainable programming.
- Establishing partnerships across interfaith, medical, and/or academic sectors.
- Expanding existing partnerships across interfaith (Islam, Judaism, Hinduism, Buddhism, traditional African spirituality, etc.) perspectives and/or medical and academic sectors.
- Bridging HIV, faith, and advocacy work in local, state, or national legislatures
- Harnessing the power of the Black Church in addressing HIV and the Social Determinants of Health ((SDOH), including inequities in housing, economic justice, food insecurity.
- Programs to engage Black women on stigma, HIV prevention and/or HIV treatment.

Evaluation

Grantees will be provided with web-based evaluation tools to streamline data collection processes. Evaluation support will be provided to grantees.

There will be two levels of evaluation. The first level takes place within the COMPASS Coordinating Centers to assess success of individually funded programs. The second level will be with ETR, the COMPASS external evaluation partner who will assess the overall success of the Coordinating Centers. It is expected that funded community partners will collaborate on and participate in assessments with the Coordinating Centers to support the COMPASS evaluation efforts.

COMPASS Coordinating Center Level Evaluation

The COMPASS Coordinating Centers recognize that rigorous evaluation is an essential element of project success. Thoughtful evaluation helps us learn from the process of project implementation, develop organizational capacity, enhance community accountability, and identify effective practices. Evaluation is therefore integrated into every aspect of grant-funded projects, from initial project planning to outcome review and reflection. Coordinating Center staff will work with funded community partners to develop project-specific evaluation plans.

Specifically, the Coordinating Center will require each funded partner to submit quarterly reports, which include the following information:

- quarterly progress made in the project work plans (work plan template provided)
- media engagement and analytics
- community engagement and analytics
- client level evaluation of implemented projects (we will ask you to conduct surveys with your clients on the impact of your projects)
- quarterly financial reports

For Wake Forest funded partners, you will also be expected to meet quarterly with project coaches supplied by the Coordinating Center and to attend 80% of training workshops offered through the Coordinating Center. Failure to submit quarterly reports, meet with coaches and attend workshops may result in a request to terminate the funded project and refund remittance.

COMPASS External Evaluation Partner

Gilead and the Coordinating Centers (CCs) have partnered with ETR to serve as the COMPASS evaluator to facilitate continuous improvement through establishing data-driven programming, monitoring, and evaluation systems. ETR is a non-profit organization that advances health equity by designing science-based solutions and brings nearly four decades of experience in the field of HIV, Sexual and Reproductive Health, youth, and families. ETR may contact funded organizations throughout the funding initiative (<https://www.etr.org/>).

Why might ETR contact me?

ETR collaborates with the CCs to collect evaluation data from COMPASS Community Partners.

Detailed roles and responsibilities for ETR include:

- Developing, implementing, and tracking core metrics for COMPASS
- Establishing monitoring and evaluation systems for the collection, analysis, and routine reporting of key evaluation data
- Supporting the development of tools and processes to communicate overall COMPASS impact to key stakeholders
- Reporting outcomes and recommendations necessary for continuously improving programs and data collection
- Providing evaluation technical assistance and serving as a thought partner
- Sharing knowledge on the progress and impact of the initiative to all COMPASS stakeholders through data visualization tools

ETR has a fundamental commitment to centering the voices of community members in order to show the impact of programs. This commitment means we contact community partners directly to engage in different evaluation activities that capture the impact of COMPASS programs across grants and collaborative learnings. ETR may contact funded Transformative Grant organizations. Some of the activities they may contact you for are listed below. Additionally, there may be other evaluation activities that ETR may ask you to participate in.

Interviews

- Most Significant Change (MSC) is an evaluation approach that relies on interviews with participants to learn how community partner involvement with COMPASS led to change in organizations and/or communities. Its aim is to understand and describe community partners' perceptions about changes within their organizations and the communities they serve.
- Community Chronicles is a series that follows a subset of COMPASS partners that have received multiple awards across all CCs to tell the story of how participation in multiple programs across CCs have impacted the organizations and the communities they serve. Community Chronicles seeks to show how participation has contributed to the overall COMPASS goals.

Surveys

- An online grantee benefits assessment survey will be distributed once a year to COMPASS community partners to capture the full impact and benefit of participating in COMPASS programs.
- Online partner satisfaction surveys will be distributed annually to community partners to rate their satisfaction with all services received through COMPASS Coordinating Centers

Your participation is ALWAYS voluntary and ETR will always prioritize community safety and confidentiality of participants.

You can contact ETR at compass@etr.org.

Eligibility: Currently, 501(c)(3) organizations (or organizations with a fiscal sponsor) operating in any of the twelve (12) Deep South states (AL, AR, FL, GA, KY, LA, MS, NC, OK, SC, TN, TX) are eligible to apply for support of programs focused on participants in said states. Individuals are not eligible for grant awards.

If your organization is considering multiple grant opportunities from the Faith Coordinating Center or other Gilead COMPASS Coordinating Centers (Houston, Emory, Southern AIDS Coalition), please take the time to research each opportunity to assess them for appropriateness and capacity of your organization to achieve the deliverables. Each Coordinating Center requires funded partners to participate in extensive, required training opportunities and deliverables in addition to the proposed project, which may overextend small organizations. We want you to be successful in your projects, so please only propose projects that can be feasibly completed based on your organizational capacity. We welcome you to reach out to our program staff to discern the most appropriate opportunities for your organization: compass@wfu.edu
